Fires Claim Five In B.C. 56 Cross-Canada Deaths

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 10 persons died accidentally in British Columbia during the weekend, five of them in fires.

Four of the fire deaths came Saturday night in a rooming house blaze in Vancouver's skid row area. Firemen described it as the worst fire to hit the city in years.

Killed were Mr. and Mrs. Holgate Carlson, George Sorrell and John Alexander Harvey. Two of the bodies were found on the top floor of the four-storey building and the other two were found on the third floor.

Fire officials believe the blaze was triggered by a cigarette in a mattress.

Wally Babi, 55, died in another rooming house fire earlier the same day.

Davie John Mitchell, 20, died in hospital Sunday after he was injured Saturday in a south Vancouver car crash. Roy William Beckman, 25, of Mission B.C. died Saturday in a car crash near Harrison in the Fraser Valley.

James Anthony Young died Friday night in Port Alberni on Vancouver Island when he was crushed beneath a car he was working on at his home.

Three-month-old Teresa McMurchy died by asphyxiation Sunday when she became tangled in blankets in her baby buggy outside her Vancouver home.

At Clinton, in the Cariboo district, a 25-year-old man lost his life Saturday when a truck plunged into a lake. Two others were injured. Police withheld names.

At least 56 persons died in accidents across Canada during the weekend. Worst toll was in traffic—38—including three youths killed when their car spun off a paved county road and hit a hydro pole in Ontario.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, local times, also showed five drownings, five fire deaths and seven in other accidents.

Ontario led with 24 deaths, 22 in traffic, one by drowning and one man killed when a light plane in which he was a passenger crashed.

Quebec had 12 dead, nine in traffic, two drownings and one man killed when his private airplane crashed on the runway.

British Columbia had 10 dead, five in rooming house fires, three in traffic and two in other accidents.

Three each died in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Saskatchewan reported two in traffic and one in an accidental shooting. Alberta had two in a plane crash and one by drowning. Manitoba reported two deaths, both in traffic.

One drowning was reported in New Brunswick and one traffic fatality in Nova Scotia. Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island had no accidental deaths.

The survey does not include known slayings, suicides, or natural and industrial deaths.

Watson In Britain On Leave

LONDON (CP) — A Canada House official today confirmed that Lt.-Col. John Watson is in Britain but declined to give details other than to say "he is on leave."

It is understood that Watson, Canadian military attaché expelled from the Soviet Union on spying charges, is somewhere in the north of England on personal family business and likely will return to Canada in about two weeks.

Watson, accompanied by his wife and daughter, flew into London late Friday night. He was arrested by the Russians May 11 after he was alleged to have photographed a military airfield from a trans-Siberian train.

Canadian authorities have accused the Russians of having manhandled Watson on the train and after rejecting the charges, ordered expulsion of a Soviet military attaché at Ottawa.

Postal Strike In Near Future Says Unionist

MONTREAL (CP) — The leader of 14,000 Canadian postal workers said today that unless the Treasury Board "changes its attitude" there will be a national strike by postal workers in the near future.

William Kay, national president of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, spoke before nearly 400 cheering delegates to the 10th triennial convention here.

While delivering his annual report, he digressed from his text to say:

"It is now my firm conviction that we will be on strike in the near future unless the Treasury Board changes its attitude."

"Accordingly, strike ballots will be mailed May 29 to all locals asking for authority to call a strike."

Eight Living With New Hearts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A young laborer in Sao Paulo, Brazil, and a retired office worker in Richmond, Va., were reported holding their own today after heart transplants.

The two operations performed nearly 5,000 miles apart brought to eight the number of men living with grafted hearts. The six others are in the United States, France, England and South Africa.

Officials at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond refused to give out any information on their patient, who underwent surgery Saturday, but all indications were that he is in satisfactory condition.

The heart transplant at Sao Paulo's Hospital das Clinicas was the first performed in Latin America and the 17th performed in the world.

The recipient in the heart graft was Joao Ferreira de Cunha, 23-year-old laborer from Mato Grosso state. The operation was performed by Dr. Eurico de Jesus Zerbini, 50, one of Latin America's leading cardiologists.

ICC Aid Sought At Peace Talks

TO VETERANS

Pearkes Urges More Attention

PENTICTON (CP) — Lieut.-Gov. G. R. Pearkes of British Columbia Sunday asked the federal government to give sympathetic attention to veterans' problems as he opened the 22nd national convention of the Royal Canadian Legion.

"Some of the young members elected to the next government will not have been exposed to veterans' problems," said Gen. Pearkes, a Victoria Cross winner and a former defence minister.

"I hope that for many years there will continue to be a separate minister for veterans' affairs and that there will continue to be a department for the administration of veterans' affairs."

He told the 2,300 delegates and their wives from across Canada that veterans must concern themselves with their country's future.

"We cannot hope to exist if we only concern ourselves with our own problems," he said. "We must look to the future and see what we can do to pass on to our youth those ideals which

Trudeau Turns Savagely On Group Of Demonstrators

FORT CHAMBLY, Que. (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau today turned savagely on a group of demonstrators carrying anti-French signs and accused them of trying to divide the country by hate.

The incident occurred as the Liberal leader campaigned through Quebec towns south of Montreal for the June 25 general election.

One of the signs advised Mr. Trudeau to "get the frogs to speak white." It was a crude way of saying get French-Canadians to speak English.

The sign carriers formed only a small part of a crowd of 125 that gathered to hear Mr. Trudeau inside a restored fort overlooking the Richelieu River 10 miles south of Montreal.

Mr. Trudeau said the demonstrators are not English people, but rather "agents provocateurs" pretending they are English in order to create hate in this country.

He said they would not succeed. They were separatists who came "so the press will know there are a few of you stupid guys left."

Some people, he said, believed in hate as a political technique. They proceed by insults and show the smallness of their minds.

Mr. Trudeau said he stood for a strong Quebec and a strong Canada.

Defence Lawyers Threaten

Thalidomide Trial Boycott

ALSDORF (CP) — Defence lawyers today threatened to boycott the trial of seven executives of the West German company that produced the drug thalidomide—blamed for deforming thousands of babies.

Relatives and parents of 23 deformed children—alleged victims of thalidomide—watched as the legal battle flared less than an hour after the court proceedings in this small West German mining town.

An estimated $25,000,000 in damage claims depend on the outcome.

The defendants, six present executives and one former official of Chemie Grunenthal, the firm which developed, manufactured and marketed the tranquillizer widely used by pregnant women, faced criminal charges of causing bodily harm with intent and through negligence, negligent homicide and violating German drug laws.

once again by a mob scene.

New Democratic Leader T. C. Douglas, back in Vancouver after a few days of campaigning in Northern Ontario, demanded reform of the country's tax structure, which he considers unjust. At the next session of Parliament, the NDP would fight for immediate implementation of the recommendations made a year ago by a royal commission on taxation.

He said Canada will never have a just society until the government establishes the universal tax system recommended by the commission, which was headed by Toronto accountant Kenneth Carty.

Commission Would Restore The Neutral Buffer Zone

PARIS (CP) — The United States today called on North Vietnam to join in a request to the International Control Commission of Canada, India and Poland to act immediately to restore the demilitarized zone between the two Vietnams as a neutral buffer zone.

Chief American negotiator W. Averell Harriman made the proposal to North Vietnamese chief delegate Xuan Thuy at the fifth full-scale session of the preliminary peace talks here.

Harriman told the North Vietnamese that agreement on a prompt restoration of the zone to its original status would truly be a step towards peace.

Harriman said that in proposing this "immediate task" for the International Control Commission, the U.S. does not intend to abandon or modify its suggestion made at the first meeting of the conference May 13.

The American delegate said on May 13 that one of the major tasks of the negotiations would be to devise more effective ways of supervising any agreement and ensuring the fair and equitable investigation of complaints.

He also said then: "We believe the nations of Asia—which have a crucial interest in the peace and stability of the region—should be associated with the monitoring of the agreements at which we may arrive."

The International Control Commission, now virtually moribund, was set up by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina.

Harriman today accused North Vietnam of converting the demilitarized zone "into a highway for aggression."

Harriman replied that the United States rejects "the suggestion now being urged by you that the only reason for our meetings is to give the hour and date of the cessation of bombing."

If that was the only purpose of the Paris conversations, Harriman said, they would not be necessary. The fact is, Harriman argued, that Hanoi made clear in its messages arranging for the meeting that it was "prepared to enter into discussions which could lead up to a cessation of the bombing."

A spokesman for North Vietnam said in rearing Thuy's statement his "legation heard no new ideas" in the United States although he understood Harriman was to offer some.

Today's session, the fifth in two weeks of meetings, lasted for four hours and 10 minutes. The next meeting was set for Friday.

U.S. deputy chief negotiator Cyrus R. Vance arranged to leave for Washington report to President Johnson.

Early Tabulation Shows

1,055,577 Can Vote In B.C.

OTTAWA (CP) — Preliminary tabulation shows at least 1,071,502 Canadians eligible to vote in the Tuesday, June 25, election, Chief Electoral Officer Jean-Marie Hamel reported today.

The final count seems likely to be about 10,875,000. The preliminary figure is surprisingly low in the face of an earlier estimate that the final total might run as high as 11,250,000. Revisions between now and election day would have to add 458,498 names, an unheard-of number, to reach the estimate.

In the last election, in 1965, the final count of eligibles totalled 10,274,904 of whom 7,713,316, or about 75 per cent, cast ballots.

The figure announced for the coming election is based on the number of names on preliminary printed voters' lists in the country's 264 constituencies.

More names will be added between now and election day but the revised count won't be available until well after the election. In 1965, revisions added 85,079 names to the preliminary total. Additions numbered 66,561 in 1963 and 79,416 in 1962.

Mr. Hamel estimates that the final count in the coming vote will be between 10,850,000 and 10,900,000. Addition of 83,498 names by revision, approximately the 1965 performance, would make the final count 10,875,000.

Following are the preliminary totals of eligibles by province announced by Mr. Hamel today, compared with the actual 1965 totals:

Tension Eases In Town Threatened By Forest Fire

SLAVE LAKE, Alta. (CP) — Tension eased over the weekend in this town of 2,000 persons in the wake of a forest fire late last week which threatened to destroy the 6,000-acre, 190-mile north of Edmonton.

Weekend thundershowers and light winds—and forecasts of similar weather today and Tuesday—helped firefighters battle the fire, which had raced 40 miles in less than 12 hours through treetops to within two miles of the town. Then a wind-shift sent it westward.

A forestry department spokesman said Sunday three major fires were still out of control at Slave Lake, Calling Lake and Faust but fire lines and action camps had been set up along the east sides.

The three were among 115 lesser Slave Lake fires burning in the province. Sixteen fires were reported still out of control Sunday night and four others were under partial control.

The Slave Lake fire, largest in the province, was burning over 363,000 acres of scrub and marketable pine and spruce.

Wally West, the department spokesman, said officials believe it started early last week from a fire used by farmers to burn brush piles near Fawcett, 60 miles south.

Officials attributed the Calling Lake fire, burning over 160,000 acres, and the 60,000-acre Faust blaze to picnickers.

Calling Lake is about 100 miles north of Edmonton and Faust is 210 miles northwest of here, about on the south shore of

Work For Okanagan Lake Given Nod At Peachland

PEACHLAND (Special) — At the regular meeting of the Peachland Municipal Council, it was unanimously agreed to the six cent per capita levy, to enable Dr. D. A. Clark of the Okanagan Health Unit to continue study of Okanagan Lake. This scheme for the continued financing of this work which is "so important to all communities situated on the lake" was suggested by Mayor R. F. Parkinson of Kelowna, Mayor Harold Thwaite explained.

Mrs. Ed. Dupuis attended council to apply for a trade licence to operate a take-out meals and snack business from the Peachland Motel. She explained to council that if the demand warrants it she would add a small coffee counter in the future. Council approved this application and wished Mrs. Dupuis success in this new undertaking.

A request from C. H. Topham that his subdivision roads be passed for approval was read. Mayor Thwaite said he had inspected these roads in the absence of the roads chairman, and that they were satisfactory. Council passed a motion giving final approval to these roads.

A request from Lawrence Roux, owner of Trepanier Bay Cottages of Beach Avenue, was read. Mr. Roux would like council to erect 20-mile an hour traffic signs along Beach Avenue in front of his property and Todd's Tent. Council will instruct the roads foreman to post these signs from the start of the tent town property all along this road to Hendricks' corner.

A letter was read from the water rights branch, Victoria, concerning an application for water rights on By John and Marie Enns on the Fernhaugh Spring. Council voiced no objections to this application.

D. A. K. Fulkus attended council with plans to use part of his building, the Peachland Garage, for a Laundromat, as this will mean an underground tank which would need an easement from council as the only place it can be constructed was on part of 1st Street. Motion was passed giving Mr. Fulkus approval in principle on an easement subject to approval of the pollution control board in Victoria, and a qualified engineering study being made, permission must also be obtained from the Okanagan Health Board.

Mr. Fulkus also spoke of the planters on Beach Avenue. These have been maintained during the past few years by himself, his wife and other business men of the community. He felt that this year he would not have the time to continue with this public service. Mayor Thwaite thanked him for this information and spoke of the plan for parking in this area which could mean these planters being moved. A decision on the care of these was left until council. Mr. Fulkus also informed council that the sign which had recently appeared on the top of the building owned now by him, had been put there without his knowledge. This he assured council would be removed in the near future.

Speaking as Peachland School board representative, Mr. Fulkus thanked the council and the Peachland residents for the support shown during the recent school referendum. He spoke of the four-room school allowed for in this referendum but stressed this is not an immediate plan, but will only be built when and if needed.

Harry Peterson of Trepanier attended council with a sketch of the proposed subdivision of his property into two lots. This was referred to Mr. Harcourt regional planner who was sitting in on the meeting. After a conference this was brought back to council and approval in principle given.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffman attended council with plans for subdivision. These have the approval of the regional planner. Mr. Hoffman requested these be filed until after the natural gas pipe line has been laid. Council approved these plans in principle subject to a signed undertaking re-municipal services.

Des Loan attended council to question the legality of trailers now being placed on the Fleming lots adjoining his property. Mr. Loan contended that this property was zoned residential, on the municipal maps and wished to object to any rezoning of this property. Mayor Thwaite explained this was a slip up in the municipal office at the time when the rezoning by-law was passed. Council now intends to correct this. Mr. Loan stated his intention of protesting any such move.

C. O. Whinton attended council to request information as to the present policy on naming new roads in the community. He explained he had now disposed of all his subdivision and the new owner would like the road named before it is registered in Kamloops. During his term on council, naming of new subdivisions had been done by the developer, but the present council had named two roads in Trepanier during the past year. He suggested that Whinton Crescent would be suitable, in honor of all the community work done by his wife. Council tabled discussion on this until a firm policy could be arrived at.

Attending council was E. G. Fletcher owner of property on Blue Waters, who wished to request spraying of fruit trees on vacant lots on blue waters be made compulsory. Council agreed with this request and the clerk was instructed to have the municipal foreman check these trees. The office will inform owners concerned that these trees must be sprayed or removed. Mr. Fletcher also questioned the moving of a house onto a lot on Blue Waters. Council assured him that this is being taken care of, the owner has now taken out a building permit and must bring this house up to standards within six months.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING Kelowna Now Dragging Feet

With RETHEL STEELE

Last week, including Sunday night, this column made four trips out of town in the interests of music and its allied arts. And why out of town? ... simply because, for the moment, Kelowna, instead of upholding its past role as the Valley leader in the arts, is now dragging its feet. With the exception of commercial entertainment, the school system music program and KMP, Kelowna is now living in a musical vacuum. ... We very easily could be considered a desert. The exception is Jeunesses Musicales and it is tottering because of educational disinterest.

The greatest shock came Wednesday in Penticton where I visited the Valley's leading mezzo soprano ... Mrs. Helene Scott to hear her at practice. I was informed ... Penticton Community Concerts is sold out ... membership over 700 ... and we cannot raise a committee even. I passed in and Vernor RCE performance since the band was to play Winfield Sunday. ... Mrs. Scott sings in Summerland tonight.

Friday night I attended the Canadian School of Ballet, Penticton recital presentation of "Ballet in the Making". Kelowna students ... Cathy Duffy and Kathy Edwards took part and little Kelly Boulton ... granddaughter of Kelowna's Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kelly ... as well. Some 85 children participated.

When one sees the beautiful carriage of these children and their physical and creative development one cannot help but wish that every child might have the privilege of this facet of an enriching program. A recital includes every child in the district classes ... perhaps Kelowna proper might be included for next year.

The Penticton dancing classes have the privilege of accompaniments by Kelowna's Mr. Dana Lordy whose playing is a revelation of what the piano can truly sound like at its best. ... Most dancing class music has the sound of automation ... this playing is creative.

Saturday night we were the guest of Mr. Paddy Mackie of Vernon at one of his famous musical parties. Mr. Mackie's home is on Lake Kalamalka in one of the Valley's most beautiful settings. The house is old world and the interior filled with beautiful objets d'art. Paddy restricts himself to 90 guests at the most ... and the evening consists of good conversation, wine and good food with a "little" music thrown in.

Seriously ... this is the closest to being a "salon" that I know of in our Valley ... a way of life reminiscent of the intellectual and the creative artist wherever he may be found. The "salon" dates back to the time of the aristocratic sponsorship of the arts on which the artistic development of musical aggregations ... Mr. Mackie is a modern day musical dilettante in the sense that he is a lover of the fine arts and an amateur musician as well.

A musical "salon" is one place a critic may go to relax from the burden of criticism where he can enjoy music making for itself alone and all things being equal hear some jolly good performances.

Saturday we heard some lovely wind playing in the Beethoven Piano Quintet ... with the Royal Canadian Engineers players and Mrs. J. Pritchard of Vernon at the piano. We will miss Captain Camplin and his players terribly ... their disbanding is a musical tragedy for B.C. We heard good violin playing from Kamloops ... and a string quartet from there also. There was fine vocalism as well again from Vernon and Penticton. A cellist came from Cranbrook and two pianists from Vernon and Penticton respectively.

Sunday night we attended the Royal Canadian Engineers' Band performance at George Elliot secondary school in aid of the music department there. The lack of support in Kelowna is a disgrace. This band is one of Canada's best musical aggregations. Its standards compare with the finest in England and rates in the same category as the United States Marine Corps Band. Captain Camplin plays it like a symphony. The playing is not the usual blaring one hears in most other bands.

Captain Camplin, under the new armed forces regulations, goes to Calgary, his RCE players to Nanaimo. The present tour is the band's swan song. ... Music in B.C. will never be the same ... and the Okanagan Symphony also loses Capt. Camplin.

But of course ... Kelowna apparently doesn't really care since for two years now we have passed up both organizations. But why the band since it performs in the heart of the Canadian armed forces? ... surely some group might have tried to sell 100 tickets at a dollar to pay the theatre rent.

What is wrong with the Kelowna Arts Council? ... You all missed a wonderful performance. The band has never played as well.

Political Forum Shapes Up Well

At least four candidates will participate in a public forum June 5 in the Aquatic.

The Kelowna Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a combined public forum and dinner meeting, which will start at 6 p.m.

Alex Turner, NDP; David Pugh, PC; and Bruce Howard, L, have formally accepted invitations and Dave Sparrow, SC, has said he will attend.

No word has been received from Dr. John Cole of Penticton, Independent candidate in Okanagan-Boundary.

Each candidate will be given 10 minutes to speak, then a question period will follow.

More voters than ever before will be eligible to vote in Okanagan-Boundary June 25. Of the 10,000 more voters in

Course Can Help Prevent Backyard Smoke Screens

Barbecue cooking time is here again and for the amateur who wishes to avoid offering burnt sacrifices, there are four separate evening courses coming up in the near future.

For four consecutive Tuesdays the courses will be offered. Beginning this Tuesday in the Kelowna Secondary School, a course for men only will be given. On June 4 at the same school, a course for ladies only. June 11 at the Rutland Secondary School and June 18 at the George Pringle Secondary School in Westbank.

These are one-night courses, designed for beginners and starting at 7:30 p.m.

In Again, Out Again Doctor Decides He'll Try In Again

Dr. John Coles seems to be having trouble deciding whether to be a candidate in Okanagan-Boundary in the June 25 federal election.

The Penticton Doctor was unsuccessful in seeking the Social Credit nomination in Oliver earlier this month. The Socreds gave the nod to Dave Sparrow in Kelowna.

Dr. Coles then announced he would run as an independent.

Last week he told returning officer Joe Winkelaar of Penticton he would not run, because his car and all his campaign material had been stolen.

Then, after an anonymous telephone call, the car was found in a used car lot and Dr. Coles decided to re-enter the race.

Busy Itineraries Planned For Coast, Kelowna Pupils

A Grade 7 Burnaby class is spending three days in Kelowna this week as guests of a Raymer Elementary School Grade 7 class.

V. J. Wishlove of the Raymer school says 36 pupils and two adult supervisors arrived in Kelowna about 7 p.m. Sunday.

He says 36 Raymer pupils will visit Burnaby June 2 to 5.

Cost of the trip is about $17 and includes transportation, four admissions and other expenses. Pupils are billeted during the trip.

Both groups have extensive tour itineraries planned.

Monday, the Burnaby group will tour Calona Winery, picnic at Last Mountain, tour the Centennial Museum and Jackson's Indian Museum.

Touring begins at 9 a.m., and ends at 5 p.m., when they return to the Raymer school to meet their billets.

THE VALLEY SCENE

The RCSCC Grenville (Sea cadets), Admiral Surling Corps (Navy League cadets), and the Elizabeth Young (Wrenette corps) of Kelowna will be inspected today at the Kelowna Armories by Cmdr. Robert Lewis. The inspection will take place at 7 p.m. All parents and interested personnel are welcome.

The Okanagan wasn't the only place subjected to cloudy, wet weather last week. "Half the world is like this right now," said Norman Walker, former president of the Okanagan Regional College. Mr. Walker had just returned to Canada Friday night from England.

The Okanagan Regional College Council will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the board offices of School District 23 (Kelowna).

Perhaps a summer-long protest began Sunday when police received a complaint about a sign stolen from Sipp's Cafe. The sign read No Huggs.

The Kelowna headquarters of the Progressive Conservative Party is naturally covered by a boosting MP Dave Pugh and national leader Robert Stanfield. But, there is another curious sign on the building at Queenway and Pandosy. Blow Horn For Service is that all that's required to get action from Ottawa?

Grads, '68 are leaving their mark... on the railway overpass on Highway 97 north... on a lawn belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fairfield, 1322 Mountainview St., where rocks from a rock garden were uprooted and a flower bed to read "Grads '68". The Fairfield are thinking of leaving things that way.

That wasn't the beginning of an invasion... those aircraft flying low over the city and district Saturday and Sunday. The DC3 aircraft were taking air cadets on 45-minute familiarization flights, as part of regular cadet training. The two-day flight program operated from the Kelowna Airport.

Some 50 members from B.C., Alberta and the U.S. will attend a one-day workshop of the B.C. Rug Cleaning Association to be held in Kelowna June 7. The day's activities will include a tour of Westmills Carpets Ltd., at 2:30 p.m., the workshop at Interior Carpet Cleaners, 1515 Harvey Ave., at 4:30 p.m., followed by a dinner at 6 p.m. and demonstrations to 9 p.m.

A 16-year-old girl, hearing that Prime Minister Trudeau would land at the Kelowna Airport June 3, immediately made transportation plans. "That man's for me," she said and it's doubtful if she could tell you what party he represents.

IMMACULATA STUDENTS REWARDED

Grade 12 graduates of the Immaculata High School were honored Saturday night in an informal graduation ceremony at the Aquatic. Winners of the Immaculata awards, presented by Sister Teresa Madeline, were Bill Ehman and Patricia Monaghan. The awards are made to the Grade 12 student who has made outstanding contributions to the school during all his or her years at school. Students vote for who will receive the awards.

Forest Costs Soar In Kamloops Area

Forest ranger H. C. Hewlett says there were no new fires in the past week in the Kelowna Ranger District.

On fire is burning in the district but is under observation. The total number of fires to date remains at eight.

A report from the B.C. Forest

Service says 115 new fires were reported for the week ending Friday. The total for the year now stands at 318, compared with 311 at the same date last year.

The Kamloops Forest District, of which the Kelowna Ranger district is a part, reports 32 new fires, for a total of 130. This total is more than double the number reported for any other district. The cost to date is $23,600.

One hundred more fires were extinguished last week, leaving 96 still burning. Estimated cost last week was $35,450.

Whole Year Of Walking Faced By Two Motorists

A Rutland man was prohibited from driving in Canada for a year after he was convicted in magistrate's court today for dangerous driving.

Phillip Schmidt, 20, was fined $150 in addition to the suspension.

Const. D. M. McLay of the Kelowna RCMP began following Schmidt at 12:25 a.m. Sunday when he saw the Schmidt vehicle and a pickup truck racing along Harvey Avenue.

Arm was fined $250 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident. He was charged after a collision in Westbank at 3 p.m. Saturday. He was prohibited from driving in Canada for 12 months.

When the cruiser began to follow, both vehicles accelerated and separated at Richter Street. The court was told the Schmidt car turned onto DeHart Avenue and a case of beer was then thrown from the passenger side of the vehicle.

Const. McLay finally stopped the car on Ethel Street. His report said Schmidt exceeded the speed limit by 30 mph at all times during the chase.

Edward Tomat of Westbank was fined $100 for causing a disturbance in the Ming Inn Cafe at 2:50 p.m. Saturday. If the fine is not paid immediately, a jail term of 30 days will be imposed.

Elmer Dyck of Kelowna was remanded in custody until Wednesday for sentencing on charges of theft under $50 and having improper licence plates on a vehicle. He was caught stealing hubcaps during the weekend from Mervyn Motors.

Three Fires For Brigade

An equipment shack at the Immaculata High School was destroyed by fire Saturday night.

The Kelowna Fire Brigade answered the alarm at 8 p.m. Rev. Francis Goddard, principal of Immaculata, said cause of the fire was not known.

The shack, made entirely of wood, burned quickly. Father Goddard said he was at the school during the evening, but while he was away for about a half-hour, the shed burned.

A fire in a trash bin at the rear of the Hudson's Bay Company, Shops Capri, at 12:40 p.m. Sunday caused little damage, but did singe the eave of the roof of the building.

An incinerator fire at the rear of People's Food Market, Bernard at Glenmore, at 4:23 p.m. Saturday did no damage to the store, but burned some construction material.

Two meetings
The Kelowna chamber of commerce will sponsor two dinner meetings in June. Ray Stoyer of the Santee (Calif.) Water System will be guest speaker at a general meeting June 26.

Top Thespians Play Here Soon

Some of the best actors and actresses in B.C. will perform in Kelowna this week in the B.C. Drama Association's One Act Play Finals Festival.

The accent will be on drama throughout this week and the next year, leading to 1969's Dominion Drama Festival here.

The program for the 16th annual festival begins Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Community Theatre. This festival brings together the winning plays from seven zones within the province.

Eight plays and the best original script are scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with the best play of each evening being repeated Saturday at an honors performance. Wednesday the first play will

Seal Total Passes '67

The final total for the Kelowna Lions Club Easter seal campaign has been announced by chairman Peter Jones-Evans.

A total of $3,222 was raised this year, compared with $2,791 in 1967.

Mr. Jones-Evans said the club is pleased by the response of Kelowna and district residents. Sheets of seals were mailed to people with a self-addressed envelope for their donation.

The money goes to the Vancouver headquarters and comes back to the area in services for the handicapped.

R-P Traffic Totals Jump

The start of the major tourist season in Kelowna and District is reflected in traffic figures for the Rogers Pass, the most popular route between the Okanagan and the Prairies.

From the beginning of April to the middle of May, 21,563 vehicles, carrying 61,735 passengers, have crossed the pass westbound into B.C. In comparison, 22,260 vehicles, carrying 66,179 passengers, have crossed eastbound from Revelstoke.

With the exception of a few frost heaves, the highway is in good condition. However, rolling rock through steep cuts is a common condition at this time of year and caution should be exercised in these areas. Extreme caution through snowed areas should be exercised at all times.

DOUG SUTHERLAND LIONS GOVERNOR

Doug Sutherland of Kelowna has been elected district governor of the Lions Club district 19-D, which extends from Fort St. John to Wenatchee and includes 45 clubs. The election took place in St. James last week and the installation will be at the International Lions Club convention in Dallas June 23.

Mr. Sutherland was president of the Kelowna Lions Club in 1962-63, has been a club member since 1953 and has a 12-year perfect attendance record. He received an extension award in 1967 for serving the Westbank Lions Club, was zone chairman in 1966-67 and co-chairman of the 1966 mid-year conference.

Meeting Set On Damage

Black Mountain Irrigation District water is still off as a result of a slide into Mission Creek Thursday, which damaged the irrigation system's intake.

Fred Stevens, chairman, said today he could not comment on the extent of the damage until after a meeting of irrigation members tonight.

A. L. Freebairn, district engineer with the department of highways in Kelowna, said his department was not involved, the slide damage was strictly an irrigation matter.

SUNNY weather with a few clouds in the evening cloudy periods is forecast for the Okanagan Tuesday.

Little change in temperature, with 42 tonight and 70 Tuesday predicted. Winds should be light.

The low and high recorded in Kelowna Sunday were 39 and 68, compared with 42 and 72 on the same date a year ago.

be One Is Not Enough, an original play by Jim Salt—presented by the Kelowna Little Theatre.

This will be followed about 8:50 by Vernon Little Theatre's presentation of The Private Ear, written by Peter Schaffer. Vernon and Kelowna Little Theatre were co-winners in the Okanagan zone. About 10:05 p.m., The Room, by Harold Pinter, will be performed. This play is presented by the Kamloops Alumni Players representing the Central Mainland zone.

Several Okanagan Visitors Involved In Valley Mishaps

RCMP investigated five accidents during a four-hour period Saturday afternoon.

At 3 p.m. Saturday cars driven by Raymond Fielding of Calgary and Reginald Haverly of Salmon Arm, collided on Highway 97 in Westbank. About $250 damage was done but no injuries were reported.

Cars driven by Robert Kryger of Ellis Street and Thomas McLaughlin of Okanagan Mission collided at Leon Avenue and Pandosy Street at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. About $550 damage was done but no injuries were reported.

About $250 damage was done when cars driven by Frederick Lane, 934, Bernard Ave., and Vernon Shaw, 540, Saurier Road, collided at Bernard Avenue and Bertram Street at 4 p.m. Saturday. No injuries were reported.

A collision on Highway 97 south of Kelowna caused about $550 damage but no injuries.

Cars driven by James Lockyer of Vancouver and William Keran of Lethbridge, collided at 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

Margaret Lukeniuk of Winfield, driver of one car involved in a collision Saturday, suffered face cuts. Her car collided with one driven by Lyle Adams of Rens Deer at Highway 97 and Hill Road in Winfield at 7 p.m. Saturday.

About $300 damage was done when a car driven by Robert Arrance of Okanagan Mission failed to negotiate a curve on Belgo Road at 5 p.m. Sunday and entered a ditch. No injuries were reported.

A total of 10 cases of wine were taken from a transport truck parked at Hal's Distributors in Rutland, early Saturday morning.

An unoccupied trailer at Pandosy Trailer Court was broken into during the weekend, but nothing was reported missing.

Crop Situation Excellent In Most Okanagan Areas

Heavy rains in the southern Interior have caused an apple scab infection period, but should be helpful to vegetables and berries.

Eradicant sprays are now being applied in the orchards to overcome this infection, caused by the right combination of moisture and temperature.

The weather until the weekend had been generally fair and warm, making pollination favorable.

Apricots are generally heavy, except in some southern orchards, where frost damage has reduced the crop. A heavy thinning job is in the prospect for many orchards.

A fair to good crop of cherries is developing. Spring frosts have also reduced crops in some southern orchards. Varieties vary with lamberts tending to be light and vane heavy.

Peach crops vary from district to district, but a fair to good crop is forecast. Prunes appear good and a large crop is anticipated.

Pear blossoms are heavy throughout the area and indications are a large thinning job will be required.

Apple prospects vary according to districts and varieties. Winesaps are heavy throughout the Valley and red delicious are light in the south, but become steadily heavier in the Penticton and Kelowna areas. Other varieties are spotty.

Grapes continue to show promise of a crop larger than last year.

Greenhouse cucumbers are moving in volume and field cucumber planting is nearing completion.

Greenhouse tomatoes will commence in about a week and the planting of field tomatoes is well under way.

Asparagus on dry land farms is suffering from drought, but yields are about average on irrigated fields.

The early cabbage crop continues to look good and pepper transplanting has started. Early potatoes are growing well and both fall planted and spring seeded onions are progressing satisfactorily.

Corn plants are emerging and lettuce is doing well.

Pests of fruit crops are generally at the normal seasonal level, although green peach aphid and grape leaf hoppers are more numerous than usual.

June 4 Date For Inquest

An inquest into the death of Mrs. A. M. Hince, 82, East Kelowna, will be held at 2 p.m. June 4.

Mrs. Hince was found dead outside her house April 3. Among her injuries were a torn scalp, abrasions and bruises and a severe blow to the head. Some of her clothing was arranged around the body.

The inquest had been delayed because laboratory reports had not been returned from Vancouver.

Two Teachers Off To Coast

Two Kelowna teachers will attend the eighth annual conference of Vancouver Co-operative Pre-schools International, meeting in Vancouver Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

They are Mrs. Ardis Deuster and Mrs. Harry Nakayma, teachers at the Kelowna Co-operative Pre-school Society.

The theme of the conference is Child in the Middle, and refers to the child in the parent-teacher-community triangle.

Some 350 delegates are expected to attend from Canada, the U.S., New Zealand and India.

CP-CN Wires To Link Soon

Effective June 1, the Canadian Pacific Telecommunications service will be amalgamated with that of the Canadian National Telecommunications in the CNT office, 310 Bernard Ave.

The CPT office, 1571 Pandosy St., will remain as a technical department with a private wire service and telex system, while Bryon Robinson, CP wire chief in charge. Other employees will be integrated into the system, where or how is not settled.

The hours of the new office have not been determined.

Socreds Withering Away In The National Scene

As the federal election campaign moves into high gear, a fact that has long been evident is now being abundantly demonstrated: the Social Credit party is no factor in this election.

Social Credit, indeed, has never been a factor in federal politics. Despite herculean efforts to make it a national party it just never did appeal to the voters, excepting in Alberta and British Columbia and a fragment of Quebec. Even in these areas, its support was spotty.

In one election, it is true some score of members who gave lip-service to the party were elected. But it was an uneasy aggregation which eventually split up into the Socreds and the Creditists. The Socreds ended with only four members in the Commons when the election was called and even some of these were contemplating joining the Conservatives. Its erstwhile leader, Robert Thompson, did so, running as a Conservative in the riding of Red Deer which he represented as a Socred.

The leading apostle of Social Credit, Premier Manning of Alberta, wrote a widely-read book in which he advocated the Social Credit movement in federal politics linking with some other party.

The party has no national office and no national staff.

Understandably, the party is finding it difficult to obtain many candidates of any stature. In Victoria, after a convention had failed to obtain a candidate, a 78-year-old reactionary announced he would run as an independent Socred. In Esquimalt-Saanich when no names were placed before the nominating convention, an enthusiast stood up and announced: "If no one will do it, I will." And thus the story goes.

The long-discussed debate between the national party leaders has been arranged. And who are the leaders? Trudeau, Stanfield, Douglas and Caouette. The CBC and CTV have ignored the Social Credit group, obviously on the grounds that it does not represent a national party. Like the Communists. Like the Republicans.

The Social Credit party federally is withering away. It is doing so for two reasons. In the first place it had no place in federal affairs and never caught the imagination or support of any considerable body of voters. In the second place, many of those who had given it support in recent elections have come to realize they were supporting a losing cause.

Then, too, the general attitude of the country, the general desire of the voters is to elect a majority government so it can get along with the business of solving the country's problems. This is not an election for splinter parties. It is an election to elect a stable government.

Ashamed To Admit It

(Orillia Packet and Times)

One of the things about our Victorian forefathers that amuses us, in this permissive age, was their attitude toward sex, yet the curious truth is that we have ourselves developed a social attitude toward another "fact of life" which is every bit as absurd and at odds with manifest reality as the quaintest of Victorian notions. For in an age which prides itself on its ability to face any fact, however unpleasant, and to call a spade a spade, we seem unable to bring ourselves to acknowledge that there exists in all men — dare we say it? — race or color consciousness. Like the Victorians eschewing sexual desire, we pretend that it does not exist; not in us, at any rate. Oh, at the most brutish levels it might find some dark refuge, but no well-mannered, educated man or woman would admit to it for a moment.

Yet, like sex, racial consciousness is an undeniable and universal fact of life, and the current liberal fad which denies its existence is not only as preposterous as our forefathers' coy references to storks, but a good deal more socially disastrous. For the Victorians did, somehow, manage to reproduce themselves, whereas our current pretensions bid fair to bring down our society in racial hatred and civil war. In the face of the racial experience of recorded history, can there be anything more ludicrous, more deluded, more potentially disastrous than an immigration policy which pretends that race or skin color is not a factor in the ability of a society to assimilate new citizens?

The fact is that everyone, including the most enlightened, the most tolerant and the best-educated, is racially conscious. For most of us, race or color is no problem in our social or business contacts with people of different origin; we pride ourselves on our "tolerance," in itself an intolerable, if unconscious, form of patronizing. But for those who must compete for jobs, housing, and services with those of different color and alien culture, race is a very real and significant factor.

Any immigration policy which fails to take account of this universal and perfectly natural human trait can only end in disaster; the United Kingdom is currently suffering just such a consequence and Canada seems bent on following in its foolish footsteps.

By all means, let us have immigrants; Canada needs them by the million. By all means, let us have men and women of different race and color; such mixture of blood breeds healthy nations. But let us recognize that race and color are natural dividing lines in social conflict; let us not add to the already swollen ghettoes of our few big cities, but rather settle our new arrivals in new communities, where they can adapt their old culture to their new homeland without competing for shelter and livelihood with those of different background. Let us put this new population in the empty spaces where it is needed most, and where it can have time to adapt to the Canadian way of life. Above all, let us stir in our new blood in judicious quantities, lest we overwhelm any one community with a racial mixture which it cannot quickly assimilate. For by accepting racial consciousness as a fact of life, we can plan to avoid the racial rivalry which it must otherwise engender.

Some Tinkering In Time Due As Election Nears

OTTAWA (CP) — As in previous federal elections, there will be some tinkering with time zones this year to remove complications over differences within certain ridings.

Only Quebec and Ontario will have split-time voting. Quebec's far eastern region will vote on Atlantic time, which the area normally observes, with the bulk of the province voting on Eastern time. Northwest Ontario's Kenora-Rainy River riding will vote on its normal Central time, again with the bulk of the province on Eastern.

The provinces of Saskatchewan and British Columbia, each also with two time zones, are set by federal regulation to vote on Mountain and Pacific times, respectively, throughout. And all of the vast Northwest Territories, spanning five zones, will vote on Central time.

Voting hours are set by law at 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. local standard time for the general election Tuesday, June 25. The "local" refers to the arbitrarily-set cases as well as the normal local zones.

Thus in Frobisher Bay, in the Atlantic zone, polls will open at 10 a.m. and close at 9 p.m. by local time, because all N.W.T. balloting is tied to Central time, two hours earlier. Similarly, in the Mackenzie Delta at the western end of the Territories, voting hours will be 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. as far as residents there are concerned.

The arbitrary setting has less effect in B.C. and Saskatchewan. B.C.'s southeastern corner is in the Mountain time zone but will vote on Pacific time with the rest of the province. Eastern Saskatchewan, normally on Central time, will vote on Mountain time with the province's western section and Alberta.

Besides polling hours on election day, the following local standard times are set by federal legislation: 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, June 15, and Monday, June 17, for advance polls held for voters who expect to be away from home on election day; 2 p.m. Monday, May 27, for closing of official nominations in 21 large remote ridings, and the same hour Monday, June 10, for close of nominations in the other 243.

Voters who live in communities where daylight time is observed should remember that it is one hour later than the times posted on the proclamations.

This is what local standard time means for election purposes in each part of Canada:

Newfoundland — Newfoundland time.

Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick — Atlantic time.

Quebec — Atlantic time in ridings of Bonaventure, Gaspé, Manicouagan and Matane; Eastern time in all other ridings.

Ontario — Eastern time, except for Kenora-Rainy River which is on Central time.

Manitoba — Central time.

Saskatchewan and Alberta — Mountain time.

British Columbia — Pacific time.

Yukon — Yukon time.

Northwest Territories — Central time.

The fact that Canada is spread across seven time zones means that when polls close in Newfoundland, voters in British Columbia still have 4½ hours and those in the Yukon 5½ hours left in which to vote.

A 1938 federal law prohibits publication of election results within any province before the close of polls in the province, to guard against the possibility of reports from eastern areas influencing late western voting.

Since then, the federal election report of The Canadian Press has moved into newspapers and broadcasting stations across the country embargoed against publication until local polls close.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Go On, Barbeque Without Cancer Fear

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

A friend said she read an article saying that charcoal cooking is known to cause cancer. Is there any truth to this? We do a lot of cooking on our grill in the summer and are worried about this. —MRS. W.J.

There are so many backyard coals, and this cancer story has been repeated so many times, that a great many people are worried. Letters from readers tell me so.

Trouble is, the writers of such articles evidently haven't read the original scientific reports, or anyway haven't read them carefully. And when the scare stories are repeated by word of mouth, they are liable to become scurrilous with each telling.

I have read the original articles by the investigators who reported the presence of carcinogens in charcoal-broiled meat. (A carcinogen is any substance that tends to produce cancer.)

The principal carcinogen in this case is a substance known as benzopyrene. This chemical does indeed produce cancer when it is inhaled or otherwise applied to laboratory animals. It is a "carcinogen."

In cooking, it comes from fat dripping into the fire. Then the smoke carries the chemical upward to cling to the steak.

Its presence is undisputed. However, the quantity seldom seems to be mentioned in the scare stories. The original researchers reported it, but people didn't read it, or they stopped before they reached the end of the article.

The amount of benzopyrene which gets on a kilogram (2.2 pounds) of steak in this way is 5.8 micrograms, or about one microgram for an ordinary portion of charcoal-broiled steak.

A microgram is a millionth part of a gram; a gram is 1/30th of an ounce. Hence, to consume an ounce of this chemical, one would have to eat pretty close to 30 million steaks.

The investigators, in summing up their conclusions, wrote in so many words that "the presence of benzopyrene does not indicate a human hazard."

But the people who made a scare story of the report didn't get down to that information. There are other carcinogens in our environment that don't get the over-generous attention that this one does — air pollution contains many, smoking has some, and remember the cranberry scare?

I myself do not intend to give up charcoal broiling. I don't, however, cook on such a large hot fire that dripping fat turns it into a bonfire. In fact, certain manufacturers of cooking equipment advocate a small fire, and keeping the meat at a fair distance from it.

A few coals, really, are enough. Most folks use too many coals, char the meat, and to my way of thinking ruin a fine steak.

I hope still further information may turn up on this topic, but for the meantime I hope readers will enjoy themselves at the charcoal grills just as I intend to do.

Dear Dr. Molner: As a child he was allowed to run around in wet grass. Now he is grown up and suffers with hay fever every year. Could that be the reason? —MRS. E.T.

The wet grass had nothing to do with it. The hay fever is the result of his being highly sensitive to the pollen from ragweed and similar plants that go to seed in the fall.

Note to Mrs. F.R.: The correct spelling is psoriasis (s-p-e-e), a skin ailment involving redness, scaling, and often some itching. It isn't "catching." Skin specialists don't have much difficulty in controlling the itching, but the various "cures" are unpredictable. Sometimes one works, sometimes another, sometimes nothing seems to work.

CANADA'S STORY

Yukon Railway Helped Miners

By BOB BOWMAN

One of the most unusual and spectacular railways on the North American continent was started on May 27, 1898. It is the White Pass and Yukon, a narrow-gauge railway designed to carry passengers and supplies from Skagway to Whitehorse and Alaska. It crosses the Coast Range mountains, and reaches an altitude of 2887 feet at White Pass where it crosses the boundary between Alaska and British Columbia.

The railway was built during the Klondike gold rush to help the prospectors who were required by law to carry supplies for one year in order to enter the Yukon. There was a horse-drawn transportation service, the Red Line Company, but it charged one dollar per pound for carrying freight. Many prospectors died on the trails because they could not afford to use the transportation company.

Anyone who did travel on it had to sign a pass that read: "This pass is not transferable and must be signed in ink or blood by the undersigned person who, thereby accepting and using it, assumes all risk of danger to person and baggage. The holder must be ready to rush behind at the crack of the driver's whip. Passengers falling into the mud must first find themselves and remove all soil from their garments."

The famous Yukon gambler

"Soapy Smith" tried to stop the railway from being built but was killed in a gun duel with Frank Reid, Skagway engineer, who also died in the battle. Smith's body was exhibited through the area as a warning. Despite the terrain and other difficulties the White Pass and Yukon Railway was operating for four miles on July 21, and was the most northerly railway in the world for some time. It reached White Pass on Feb. 18, 1899, and Whitehorse in 1900.

Baskets of mauve and white lilacs, and tulle bows centered with tiny roses to mark the pew ends, enhanced St. Paul's United Church on May 11 at 3:30 p.m. when Linda Susan Harney, second daughter of Mrs. Donna R. Harney of Kelowna, became the bride of Peter James Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Mitchell of Kelowna.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, George Cobley, the lovely bride wore a full-length gown of four tiered lace over satin. The bodice was encrusted with tiny pearls and pearl sequins. A crown of crystal and pearls held in place her shoulder length veil of tulle embroidered with pearl sequins and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white stephanotis and gardenias.

Miss Ruth Harney of Vancouver was her sister's maid of honor, Miss Cheryl Mitchell, sister of the groom was bridesmaid and Miss Anne Harney the bride's younger sister was junior bridesmaid.

The two senior attendants were lovely in similar gowns of turquoise peau d'elephant styled on Empire lines. They wore crystal tiaras and carried bouquets of white stephanotis. The charming little Junior Bridesmaid wore turquoise peau d'elephant fashioned on Empire lines and featuring cape sleeves, and the waiting and sleeves of the gown were trimmed with white swansdown. Her headress was a bow of matching peau d'elephant, and she carried a bouquet of white stephanotis.

Acting as best man was Stephen E. Graham Jr. of Vancouver and the ushers were Robert Sulentic, Vancouver and David Clarke, Lake Cowichan, Vancouver Island.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Harney wore an original gown of gold brocade fashioned on the A line and a small brocade hat with matching gold accessories. A corsage of yellow roses completed her ensemble. The groom's mother, Mrs. Mitchell wore a blue lace coat over a sheath of blue peau d'elephant. Her hat and accessories were white and her corsage was of white roses.

Mrs. George Cobley, the bride's grandmother looked most attractive in a soft colored dress of fine wool paisley, which was accented by a large picture hat, matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

MR. AND MRS. PETER JAMES MITCHELL

At the reception held at the Capri Motor Hotel, Ronald Winch proposed the toast to the bride, which was sincerely answered by the groom and the best man proposed a toast to the bride's attendants. The bride's table was centered with a beautiful wedding cake, made by the groom's mother. It was decorated with white roses and leaf design, and on the top of the cake was a miniature bride and groom under an arch of Lily of the Valley and white roses.

Dennis Chalmers, cousin of the bride, acted as master of ceremonies and telegrams of congratulations to the young couple were received from relatives in England and friends in Edmonton, Alberta.

For her honeymoon to the Oregon Coast and Vancouver Island the bride changed to a two piece wool suit in green tones with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

MARY STANFIELD

Wife Of Conservative Leader Accompanies Husband On Tour

Progressive Conservative leader Robert Stanfield and Mrs. Stanfield visited Kelowna on Friday, where Mr. Stanfield conducted interviews, and spoke on the Conservative policy at the Memorial Arena in the evening.

The following is an interview with Mary Stanfield by Lisa McDonald of Ottawa, which will give you a more intimate look at the Conservative leader's wife.

Warm, friendly, vivacious... these are the words that describe Mary Stanfield, wife of Progressive Conservative leader Robert Stanfield. But no words can describe the comfortable feeling she imparts to others. You can tell that Mrs. Stanfield really likes people. On the eve of her departure along the campaign trail with her husband, she still appeared relaxed and unharmed by any last minute problems.

When asked if there were any particular difficulties when it came to "what to wear" on the trip, Mrs. Stanfield told the story of her Tory blue suit. She had planned on taking it with her on the tour... until she saw it worn by 17-year-old Judy Stanfield... with the skirt cut to mini length! Mothers of teenage girls will find that a familiar tale.

On last summer's tour, Mrs. Stanfield wore silk knits exclusively and found them ideal for travel. This year, however, with temperatures still at the changeable stage, she's taking clothes for both warm and cool weather, just in case.

With the need to look well-groomed at all times, hairdos can be troublesome on an extended trip, but Mary Stanfield found the perfect answer with a postiche that matches the soft grey shade of her own hair.

While Mrs. Stanfield enjoys travelling, some funny things can happen. Like the time she was stranded in the washroom on board an aircraft. The door had only a small hole where the handle should have been. Poking an emery board through the opening brought no help. Next, Mrs. Stanfield tried signalling with a rolled up scrap of paper. Still nothing. Eventually, her absence was noticed and she was rescued from her temporary jail... and she was still in time for lunch, too!

Despite the strain of the campaign tour, Mrs. Stanfield mentioned only one thing she really dislikes. "Early morning starts," she said. "I don't mind anything else, but please don't ask me to get started on the day's journey at 6 a.m."

Mrs. Stanfield says she enjoys people and finds them all "so friendly." No doubt this is a reflection of Mary Stanfield herself... the kind of person you can't help but like!

Abortions Frequent In Quebec Province

MONTREAL (CP)—A new book entitled L'Avortement—Abortion — says extensive research at a Montreal family planning centre indicates that between 10,000 and 25,000 illegal abortions are carried out yearly in Quebec province, most of them by qualified doctors operating on married women.

The book was written by Dr. Serge Mongeau, director of the Family Planning Centre, and sociologist Renee Cloutier, who is also connected with the centre.

Agassiz United Church Scene Of Lobb-Finlay Ceremony

Before the altar, flanked on either side by tall standards holding baskets of dogwood blossoms and wisteria, a dogwood branch held the bride of Terry Michael Lobb, in Agassiz United Church, on May 11. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Finlay of Agassiz, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lobb of Kelowna.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, Rev. G. Witwail of White Rock, and officiating the ceremony, the bride's three sisters sang "Wedding Song".

The bride entered the Church on the arm of her father, as the assembled guests sang a wedding hymn. Her gown, fashioned by herself, was of white lace, studded in Spanish style and floor length. The bodice was fitted, and featured lily-point sleeves and her full chapel veil was held place by a pearl coronet. She carried a colonial bouquet of tiny red roses and lily-of-the-valley, from which cascaded ribbon streamers knotted with lily-of-the-valley.

The two bridesmaids were the bride's twin sister, Rena, and her sister, Julie, were dressed alike in azalea rose lace. They wore tiny net chapel veils in the same shade as their gowns, and carried colonial bouquets of azaleas accented by white narcissus.

The tiny flower girl was Andrea Puddy of Victoria, niece of the groom, who was dressed in an exact miniature of the bridesmaids' gowns, and carried a wee colonial bouquet. Her headress was a small spray of azalea-rose net buds.

The ring bearer was the groom's nephew, Kevin Puddy of Victoria, who carried the rings on a rose satin cushion.

The best man was Jim Campbell of Prince George, and the ushers were Bill Davis of Agassiz, and Don Puddy of Victoria, brother-in-law of the groom. The wedding music was played by the bride's eldest sister, Trudy, and her two younger sisters, Colleen and Janet, sang a duet, "Ereger Perfect" during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony, the young couple left the Church in a decorated buggy, drawn by a white horse.

The reception was held on the spacious lawn at the bride's parents' home. Receiving the many guests was the bride's mother, gown in a pastel flowered sheer in shades of pink, blue and green. Her ensemble was complemented by a broad-leaved white hat, bedecked with similar material.

Assisting the hostess, as the groom's mother, gown in a Persian blue lace ensemble, and wearing a flowered hat in graduated shades from pale pink to azalea rose. Shoes and gloves in tone completed her costume. Each of the mothers wore corsages of shaded pink carnations.

The toast to the bride was proposed by an old friend, Dr. Robert Fletcher, director of the Conservation Department, Ottawa, and was effectively responded to by the groom. Mr. Campbell proposed the toast to the bridesmaids.

During the informal reception, a group of male fingers, including the bride's father, sang two clever numbers, with words directed toward the young couple and the bride's mother and the groom's father sang an appropriate duet, "Sunrise, Sunset".

Following the reception, the happy couple left for a motor camping trip. On their return they will be in Kamloops for the summer, where the groom will be employed at the Research Station. In the fall, both young people will return to UBC to complete their final year. Mr. Lobb is agriculture and the bride is education.

Guests attended the wedding from White Rock, Victoria, Vancouver, Mission, Oliver, Kelowna and points in Alberta, and attending from Kelowna were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lobb and Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Buncie, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Matt, Miss Edna Walker, Miss Gill McKenzie, George Hammond, and Gerald, Miss Joan Gary, Trisha, Dave Cline and Greg Russell.

ANN LANDERS

There Are Clumsy Men But No Cold Women

Dear Ann Landers: I'm getting pretty sick of your pat answers. They are beginning to sound as if you cranked them out of a machine. I refer specifically to your replies to husbands who complain about iceberg wives.

My wife has been a stationary snowdrift from the day we married. For 14 years I have put up with her exotics and "blue" expressions of marital "blue." I first started to bid her about finding satisfaction elsewhere if she didn't warm up. Later I stopped kidding and made the threat in earnest. Her answer was, "I don't care what you do so long as you don't bother ME."

I am 35. My wife is 33. This is too young to dry up and blow away. She is an excellent mother, a fine housekeeper, a gracious hostess and active in the League of Women Voters, but she is more than cold—she's frozen.

Be practical and give me an answer that does more than take up two inches of newspaper space.—STARVATION DIET.

Dear D.S.: Many are cold, few are frozen. Your wife is probably the product of a guilt-inhibited mother who believed all men were beasts because that's what HER mother told her.

You say your wife is an iceberg. This is an apt description in more ways than one. Four-fifths of an iceberg is below the surface. Your job is in getting 2,000 different adios.

acquainted with the whole woman.

Your iceberg—I mean your wife—should talk to her doctor. She is not living up to her responsibilities to you. Furthermore, she is cheating herself. You should see a doctor, too. A French philosopher once said, "There are no cold women—only clumsy men."

Dear Ann Landers: Why is it that during a time of sorrow there is always someone around who is measuring the intensity of grief displayed by the family? One hears statements such as, "She must be hard as nails—hasn't shed a tear through this whole thing." If there is a display of agony, the same person will remark, "She must be awfully guilty or she wouldn't be putting on such a show."

Recently I heard this comment at a funeral where the children wept openly: "Now that it's too late they show some feeling for their poor old mother. When she was alive they didn't bother with her."

For the life of me I can't figure out why people make such tasteless, unkind and ignorant remarks. Can you?—Betty.

Dear Betty: Because they are tasteless, unkind and ignorant people. What else?

DEFEAT LEAGUE-LEADERS

Willows Stretch Streak To Four Straight Wins

There was a time, and other teams will tell you it seems like years ago, that the Willow Inn Willows were the patsies of the Senior B Softball circuit.

Playing the Willows was a certain two points in the standings and a peaceful evening of relaxation in the field. But now the Willows have turned tiger—and even the powerful Royal Anne Royals are getting chewed up a little. Wally Sehn limited the Royals to just five hits Sunday as the Willows dumped the league-leaders 3-2 at King's Stadium.

The win was the fourth in a row for Willows, who have yet triple and the tying run with a single.

Don Angus scored the winner after Larry Yeast ripped a double after the game went into extra innings.

Gib Loseth was the loser in relief of Dan Glanville.

The Rutland Rovers took advantage of the upset to gain ground on the Royals. Rutland outslugged Vernon 9-6 in Vernon Sunday.

The Rover attack was spread throughout the lineup with Don Schneider slapping out two singles in three official times at bat.

Amie Rath was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Ken Hehn. Gerry Altwasser, who came on in relief, was pegged with the loss.

Only a single game is scheduled today, with Kelowna Carlings playing host to Vernon at King's Stadium. Both teams are in dire need of a victory, guaranteeing an abundance of action.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Alpine Autocross Successful For Auto Club Membership

The Alpine Autocross Sunday was the first Okanagan Auto Sport Club event since the annual Okanagan Hill Climb last week.

As most of the club members take part in organizing the Hill Climb, the members were anxious to get back to competition. Good weather prompted a good turnout.

The Alpine Autocross was organized by Ross Sutcliffe and was run on a fairly rough dirt track, demanding on both suspension and steering.

After the event a Smorgasbord style supper was held at the Sutcliffe home.

Rain Causes Delay During Time Trials

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Qualifications for the 500 mile auto race Thursday went into an extra session today at Indianapolis Motor Speedway for the first time since 1952.

Rain on all but one day of the last three weeks left the time trials schedule in a shambles.

Nine cars qualified in high winds Saturday, headed by Mel Kenyon, Lebanon, Ind., at a modest 165.191 miles per hour. Eight spots remain open in the 33-car line-up.

The track was too wet for speed until well after the 6 p.m. scheduled close of time trials Sunday.

Rules permitted the Speedway to complete the line-up any way it saw fit, and it decided to let every healthy unqualified car—about 25—make one more run. The 25 already qualified cars were ruled safe from "bumping" by any subsequent superior speeds.

Two provisional qualifications were made at dusk Sunday. Veteran Bill Cheesbourg, Tucson, Ariz., had a slow 157.274 in an Eagle-Ford, and rookie Bill Puterbaugh, Roxanna, Ill., 157.301 in a Gerhardt-Ford.

FAVORED TO WIN
The three Lotus turbines—driven by Joe Leonard, Graham Hill and Art Pollard—are favored to win the race. Hill won the Grand Prix of Monaco Sunday in a record time after taking the Spanish Grand Prix two weeks ago.

Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., who will start beside Leonard and Hill in the front row Thursday, has won the last three U.S. Auto Club championship races. He will drive a turbocharged Offenhauser.

Denis Hulme, New Zealand, world road racing champion last year, qualified Saturday and then rushed off to finish fifth Sunday at Monte Carlo.

Other Saturday qualifiers included rookie sons of two famous drivers who were killed on the Indianapolis track—Tony Bettenhausen's son, Gary, and Billy.

The elder Vukovich won the 500 twice. The elder Bettenhausen never won at Indianapolis but captured two national championships.

Beanball Feud Hits Oakland

OAKLAND (AP) — The sweetness of an Oakland Athletics' victory over first-place Detroit Tigers was lost in the bitterness of a beanball feud Sunday.

The game, won by Oakland 7-6 in the 10th, was halted for almost 15 minutes—with the score tied 6-6 in the sixth—after Athletics reliever Jack Aker hit Tiger outfielder Jim Northrup in the back of the batting helmet with a pitch.

Northrup went down in a heap but quickly charged the mound and started punching.

Separate fights began and Eddie Mather of Detroit landed the best punch, hitting Aker below the right eye.

Aker, scratched and bruised, with the right side of his uniform in shreds, left the game because of injuries.

Umpires Ed Runge and Cal Drummond, explaining the incident later, said they booed Northrup, "because he started it all," and Oakland pitchers Lew Krausse "because he used some badly chosen words."

John Odom, "because he kicked Dick McAuliffe of the Tigers in the ribs."

SINGLE WINS GAME
Pinch hitter Rene Lachemann's single won the game in the 10th, scoring Jim Hunter, a pinch runner for Jim Pagliaroni, who doubled.

The Athletics had staked Chuck Dobson to a 6-0 lead. The Tigers fought back in the fifth with two runs.

Don Wert led off the Tigers' sixth with a double and Ray Oyler singled him in and took second when Ted Kubiak dropped the cutoff throw.

Aker replaced Dobson and Jim Price greeted him with a single, Oyler barely beating the throw to the plate.

After Oakland manager Bob Kennedy protested the call and was ejected, Mickey Stanley tripled Price home and scored the tying run on Dick Traceas's sacrifice fly.

Lachemann sat alone and forgot after the game as talk continued on the fight.

"You're the hero and no one's paying any attention to you," remarked Pagliaroni.

'PITCH DIDN'T SAIL'
"I was trying to brush him back but the pitch didn't sail," Aker said about the pitch that hit Northrup. "It sank and Northrup ducked right into it."

Northrup was released from the hospital in time to join the Tigers for a trip to Anaheim, Calif.

Tough Competition Seen In Valley Championship

Record-setting performances were sparse at Wednesday's Central Zone track and field meet but a highly-rated team will represent the zone Saturday at the Okanagan Valley Track and Field championship.

The top two finishers in each event will represent School District 23 in the Valley championship, scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m. at the City Park Oval.

A total of four zones will compete in the championship: Kamloops, North, South and Central. In all, a total of 34 schools will be represented.

Opening lead—four of spades. This hand occurred in the 1965 European women's championship during the match between Italy and Spain. The bidding is peculiar, even if we grant that the three club bid was conventional and showed a long and strong diamond suit. On this basis, it would seem that the Spanish South should have bid either three notrump or four diamonds over three spades, instead of cuebidding despatches. The six notrump bid by South likewise appears doubtful, since a slam could hardly be made in notrump if it could not also be made in diamonds. Declarer won the spade lead with the queen and cashed dummy's diamonds, but then had to go down one. East's last four cards were the A-Q of hearts and K-Q of clubs, which were bound to produce two defensive tricks.

However, South could have made six notrump had she cashed the ace of spades before running the diamonds. The position with four tricks remaining would then have been:

When dummy leads the last diamond, East cannot discard safely. If she discards a heart, she discards a club and leads a heart; if she discards a club, declarer discards a heart and cashes the A-J of clubs. Either way, South makes six notrump.

Strangely enough, the board turned out to be an exact tie. At the second table, the Italian North-South pair arrived at six diamonds: doubled with North the declarer, and East led the jack of spades to eventually defeat the contract one trick.

OFFICE HOURS

"How can you remember an event that happened ten years ago and not remember where you filed a letter yesterday?"

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Planetary influences on Tuesday will favor routine tasks rather than the inauguration of new programs or making drastic changes in business or household schedules. Give further consideration, if you would, to plans and projects affecting future security, but wait until a more propitious period to carry them out.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, some fine indications in your chart foretell a possible job promotion and/or an interesting opportunity to advance in a new work area during the latter half of October—especially if you have impressed superiors with your ability in handling unusual responsibilities in the past. While all Gemini's can look forward to such chances, those in literary fields may be the greatest beneficiaries. Other good periods for job advancement: Prior to October 7 and the last week in September, after October 10, the latter half of December, next February and May.

On the monetary score: Even if you do not seem to be making much progress at the moment, do not become discouraged. Stars indicate that, where finances are concerned, the period between now and December 31st—but particularly the months of September and October—should be used for planning expansion along these lines. Don't speculate and don't go into debt to invest monies is the hope of making a "quick buck". Rather, map out a conservative and feasible program (to cover at least two years) and follow it conscientiously. Results should be highly gratifying during the first three months of 1969—just as a starter. Other good periods will follow later in the year.

This new year in your life should be an extremely happy one from a personal standpoint. With the exception of brief periods during late October and late December, when you may be under some tension and unconsciously "take out" your stresses on others, your domestic life should run smoothly; and romance will be governed by exceptionally generous influences during June, September, December, next February and May. Best periods for travel: August, September, late October, January, April and May. A child born on this day will be highly intelligent, warm-hearted and extremely versatile in the arts.

ARREST HIPPIES

MUNICH (AP) — Munich police arrested 76 hippies sprawled in the city parks recently, increasing the total haul to 352 since they began coming there in a "home-away-from-home" spirit. Twelve were jailed for up to six weeks for violating city bylaws.

'Green Men' Not To Blame

WASHINGTON (AP) — A British scientist who once worried that "little green men" were sending radio messages to earth from outer space has concluded the signals come from lifeless space objects.

Prof. F. Graham Smith of England's Jodrell Bank Observatory told U.S. scientists radio astronomers working here have been convinced since last September the radio waves originate from uninhabited astronomical objects, or "pulsars."

Before that, Smith said, scientists at Cambridge University who discovered the radio waves "were seriously worried" about the "little green men" possibility.

"And it was not until early this year that they thought the pulsars could be interpreted as astronomical objects, rather than as evidence of extra-terrestrial life," said Smith.

He said he and his colleagues at Jodrell Bank had shared that worry.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
